The Mackie HMX-56 is a six channel headphone mixer, primarily designed for use in the studio. I only used one of these for the first time recently as I started working with a new producer who has this in his studio for headphone monitoring. I think that this is a somewhat new product from Mackie, but I'm not sure about this.

Silent Or Headphone Jamming (Mackie HMX-56/JamHub) For a home setup, you may want to jam with your band-mates without disturbing your neighbours. Thus, silent jamming is an enticing option. This could be done if one has the Mackie HMX-56 headphone mixer but apparently, as I read from the Vdrums forum, that this product has been discontinued.
